STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

AIR CHARGED WITH RUMORS

ADVANCE IN LOW PRICED RAIL-ROAD SHARES.

New York, Oct. 22.-Speculation in the stock mar'et continued on much the same lines today as during the whole week, with sales in the neighborhood of a millon shareh in the two hours of the Saturday session. A process of digestion was very berceptible, especially in the high priced standard railroad shares, and St. Paul then broke 1½ below yesterday, which gave the market a ragged appearance toward the closing. Ontario & Western also lost a point of yesterday's gain, either on account of speculative profit-taking or because the price had reached the level covered by the contract for transfer of control. On the other hand, very aggressive strength was shown by a number of low-priced railroad stocks, with Erie the leader of the group. Amalgamated Copper made a brilliant advance of over four points to the high level of the year. There was large and determined buying of Rock Island, the stock rising about a point. United States Steel preferred was unable to hold its one point advance and the same was true of Pennsylvania, which came later into the movement. The bank statement showed a larger cash increase than was indicated by the currency movement, the above movement. The loan increase of less than $4,000,000 was considered moderate in view of the activity of the speculation during, the week. At the close both December and May wheat were down 3-8c. Corland oats are each off 1/2c. Provisions show almost no change.

Under the influence of indifferent cables the wheat market opened with a somewhat easier feeling, December being a shade higher to 1-8@1-4c lower, at 1.151/4 to 1.151/3c.

Review of the Week.

The volume of dealings in stocks has risen this week to an average of more than a million and a half shares a day, and the duestion of the active interest in the market of a large falling outside of Wall street has become no longer debatable. As a normal response to this development here has been a free distribution of holdings to the newcomers in the market by the speculators who saw attractive profits on the previous extensive rise. The market showed the effect of this realizing and by midweek was subjected to a sharp reaction in consequence of the increasing burden of the selling and the formation of an influential party amongst sold-out buills who favored a reaction for the purpose of shaking out weak holdings of the new long interest and of affording an opportunity to get back stocks at a profitable lower level of prices. The cagerness of waiting demand restrained the reaction and the market continued to manifest a strong absorptive power. There was nothing in the week's news to discourage the rise in the market, and the good news of the week had little bearing on the specific movements of prices. But specific movements of prices. But speenlative enthusiasm ran high and the emotional element was prominent throughout, as is usual in great speculative movetional element was prominent throughout, as is usual in great speculative movements. A dominant influence was the fact that money on call could be had at 2 per cent or less, while time loans running well into next year were obtainable at 3½ per-cent, a condition of the money market not known in the month of October in New York for many years past. Many Rumors Afloat.

Of great influence were the daily and hourly rumprs of opeiling of speculative campaigns in one and another stock by well known operators, accompanied by detailed assertions of the extent to which the rise in the price was to be carried. The credence in such tips was fostered by the regularity with which some of them were accomplished, thus inciting the faith of skentical speculators, who have been bustanders but attentive observers of the preliminary stages of the growing speculative excitement.

The bond market has been active and strong, but the chief attention was given to convertible and speculative bonds.
